c. Principles for revaluation of financial assets

The revaluation of FVTPL and AFS financial assets at market or fair value is conducted according to value determination methods in compliance with legal regulations. In the absence of market prices as of the most recent trading date, the Company uses fair value to revalue financial assets. Fair value is determined based on the principles, methods, or theoretical asset pricing models specified in the Company's Charter or Valuation Handbook or after written approval by the Board of Management.

Fair value/market value of financial assets is determined as follows:

- The market value of securities listed on the Hanoi Stock Exchange and the Ho Chi Minh City Stock Exchange is the closing price on the most recent trading day up to the revaluation date.
- For securities of companies not listed on the stock exchange but registered for trading on the market of unlisted public companies (UPCoM), the market value is determined as the average reference price over the 30 most recent consecutive trading days before the revaluation date as announced by the Stock Exchange.
- For listed securities that have been delisted, suspended, or halted from trading since the sixth trading day onward, the actual price of the securities is the book value at the date of the most recent balance sheet.
- For unlisted and non-registered securities on the market of unlisted public companies (UPCoM), the basis for revaluation is the price collected from reference sources deemed by the Board of Management to reflect the market price of these securities.

Securities without reference prices from the above sources will be assessed for potential and the degree of price reduction based on the financial condition and book value of the issuing entity as of 30 June 2025.

Increases or decreases due to revaluation of FVTPL are recognized according to the non-offsetting principle and are presented in the income statement under two items: "Losses on financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)" - Detail "Decreases due to revaluation of financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss (if revaluation decreases)" and "Gains from financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)" - Detail "Increases due to revaluation of financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss" (if revaluation increases).

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONT'D)

4.2 RECOGNITION OF FINANCIAL ASSETS AND FINANCIAL LIABILITIES (CONT'D)

Increases or decreases due to revaluation of AFS are recognized according to the non-offsetting principle and recorded directly into equity in the balance sheet under the item "Revaluation surplus of financial assets at fair value".

Held-to-maturity financial assets are assessed for impairment at the reporting date. Provisions are made for these investments when there is objective evidence indicating that the investment cannot be recovered or is not certain to be recovered due to one or more loss events negatively impacting expected future cash flows. Objective evidence of impairment can include the market value/fair value (if any) of the impaired debt, significant financial difficulty of the debtor or group of debtors, default or delinquency in interest or principal payments, likelihood of bankruptcy or financial restructuring of the debtor, and observable data indicating a measurable decrease in expected future cash flows, such as changes in repayment terms or financial conditions associated with default risk. When impairment evidence is present, the provision balance is determined based on the difference between the carrying value and fair value at the revaluation date. Increases or decreases in the provision balance are recorded in the income statement under the item "Provision expense for financial assets, Handling losses on doubtful receivables, Impairment losses on financial assets, and Borrowing costs for loans".

Loans are assessed for impairment at the reporting date. Provisions for loans are made based on estimated losses, calculated as the difference between the market value of the securities used as collateral for the loan and the loan balance. Increases or decreases in the provision balance are recorded in the income statement under the item "Provision expense for financial assets, Handling losses on doubtful receivables, Impairment losses on financial assets, and Borrowing costs for loans".

45. FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

Financial risk management

The company is exposed to market risk, credit risk, and liquidity risk.

Risk management is an essential function for the company's entire business operations. The company has a system to control an acceptable balance between risk costs and risk management costs. The Board of Management continuously monitors the company's risk management process to ensure an appropriate balance between risk and control.

The Board of Management reviews and unifies policies for managing these risks as summarized below.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices. Market risk includes two types of risk: interest rate risk and other price risks, such as equity price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include loans and borrowings, deposits, and available-for-sale investments. The company's business operations are mainly exposed to risks from changes in exchange rates and interest rates. The company does not take measures to hedge these risks due to the lack of a market for financial instruments.

Price risk

Financial assets recognized at fair value through profit or loss held by the company are affected by market risks arising from uncertainty about the future prices of the invested shares. The company manages equity price risk by establishing investment limits. The Board of Director also reviews and approves decisions to invest or sell proprietary securities. At each reporting period, the company assesses risks based on market conditions: share prices, holding levels, and holding status. Long-term equity investments are held for strategic long-term purposes, and at the end of the financial year, the company does not have plans to sell these investments.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. The company's market interest rate risk primarily relates to short-term deposits and loans.

The company manages interest rate risk by closely monitoring the relevant market situation to determine an appropriate interest rate policy that benefits the company's risk management objectives.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that a counterparty will fail to meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The company has an appropriate credit policy and regularly monitors the situation to assess whether it is exposed to credit risk. The company has credit risk arising from its business activities (primarily related to receivables from customers) and its financial activities, including bank deposits and other financial instruments.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the company will encounter difficulty in meeting its financial obligations due to a lack of funds. The company's liquidity risk primarily arises from the mismatch in the maturities of financial assets and financial liabilities.

The maturity of financial liabilities based on expected contractual payments (on a principal cash flow basis) is as follows:
